

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Cladmate Facade Systems is committed to environmental sustainability. As a global cladding systems manufacturer, we minimise our environmental impact throughout our operations and supply chain. This includes complying with regulations, reducing our footprint, mitigating climate change risks, and promoting sustainable practices. This policy outlines our commitment and the actions we take to achieve these goals. To minimise our environmental impact and contribute to the fight against climate change, we are committed to:

- Complying with all relevant UK environmental legislation and regulations, including those related to climate change, ensuring our operations meet legal standards.
- Minimising waste at its source, recycling whenever possible, and disposing of non-recyclable waste responsibly, reducing our environmental footprint.
- Using energy and natural resources efficiently to conserve resources and reduce carbon emissions.
- Utilising environmentally friendly materials and technologies to reduce our carbon footprint and promote sustainability in our products.
- Planning for and implementing measures to minimise environmental damage in the event of an environmental accident or emergency, including those related to climate change, protecting the environment and surrounding communities.
- Raising environmental awareness among employees, customers, and partners through training, events, and open communication, fostering a culture of sustainability.
- Assessing the impacts of climate change on operations and developing strategies to adapt, ensuring business continuity and resilience.
- Promoting sustainable practices in our supply chain and managing climate change-related risks, extending our environmental commitment beyond direct operations.
- Regularly monitoring, measuring, and reporting on environmental performance to track progress and identify areas for improvement.

Continuity of Our Commitment

- Aligning our environmental policy with the organisation's purpose and strategic objectives, integrating environmental considerations into core business practices.
- Regularly reviewing and improving our environmental management system to adapt to changing environmental conditions and best practices.
- Communicating our environmental policy clearly and transparently to all stakeholders to foster understanding and collaboration.
- Maintaining accessibility of our environmental policy to all stakeholders, the public, and third parties to promote transparency and accountability.

This policy reflects Cladmate Facade Systems' dedication to environmental sustainability and the fight against climate change.
